INTERNATIONAL RACE.

The American Yacht Puritan Makes a Good Showing,

But Both Fail to Cover the Distance in Seven Hours.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The programme of the committee governing the international race for the America's cup, between the American yacht Puritan and the English yacht Genesta, is as follows: The first race will be twenty statute miles. The second race will be over the Club course, a length of about thirty-eight miles. The third race will be over a triangular course, forty statute miles long. After a tedious wait of two hours after the arrival of the contestants at the light ship, the preparatory signal was given from the judges' boat at 11:00. It was followed by the starting signal five minutes later. Most of the attendant fleet were then lying to the southwest of the light ship in order to give the Genesta and Puritan clear water to start in. The wind had come in from the southeast moderately. The breeze sprang up shortly after one o'clock, and was hailed with delight by thousands of enthusiastic spectators who had paid from $1 to $3 a head to see the great contest.

By skilful management the skippers of both yachts brought them close to the light between the judges' boat and the lightship on the port tack to cross. In a few seconds after the starting signal the Puritan slipped across first, close up to the judges' boat, at 1:35 55, but for some reason Captain Carter, of the Genesta, tacked to starboard just before reaching it, losing 17 minutes and 42 seconds, and being handicapped 37 seconds thereby. She crossed at 1:37 35, official time. Captain Crocker, of the Puritan, which boat looked very handsome, with her mainsprit topsail, forestay sail, jib and jib topsail set, meant "fight" from the start. At the moment the Genesta crossed the line the Puritan came about, and in thirty seconds had filled away on the starboard tack, with the Genesta a hundred yards on her lee bow. The course was right in the wind's eye—southeast. A tug had started ten minutes before to log out twenty miles to windward, and place a stake buoy for the yachts to round. Cheered on by shouts from hundreds of spectators, and followed by the immense flotilla of pleasure crafts, the two contestants headed due east on the first reach. Finding that she could neither pass the Puritan to leeward, or "outpoint" her, Capt. Carter, after two minutes, suddenly put the Genesta about to pass the Puritan's stern, but Capt. Crocker put his helm down at once, bringing the handsome white sloop around 40 seconds later. The Genesta was full of tricks, for around she came in less than a minute, followed by the Puritan in 60 seconds. Both yachts were carrying exactly the same canvas. Instead of gaining by the little skirmish which he inaugurated, Captain Carter had lost, and the Puritan had gained a decided advantage.

Both yachts went about at 3:07 and reached to the southward, having made about a mile, then on the starboard tack. Now the Puritan began to rapidly open the gap between herself and the Genesta. When they next met they tacked eastward at 41 to eastward, and at 11. The Puritan was fully three-quarters of a mile to the windward of her antagonist and an eighth of a mile ahead. At 5:11 both tacked to the southward again, and now the Genesta was over a mile on the Puritan's lee quarter. The way both yachts walked through the fleets of schooners, including the Montauk, Fleetwing, America, Gitana and Columbia, astonished the spectators and proved the superior speed of these boats as compared with the old models.

At 6:30, when the judges' boat arrived at the outer work, it was sundown, the wind was growing lighter and the yachts being two miles to leeward, it was evident that the race could not be sailed within the required time limit of seven hours. So the Regatta Commission ordered the race postponed until to-morrow morning when the boats will start at the same hour and over a similar course. All the accompanying yachts turned back before dark, and the Genesta and Puritan were towed back to the horseshore. The result of to-day's contest is thought by experienced men to be convincing proof that the Puritan can beat the cutter under any conditions.

Lieut. Stoney's Report.

Lieut. George M. Stoney, commanding the Alaska exploring expedition, reports to the navy department from St. Michaels, Alaska, June 30, that after leaving Ounalaska, June 9, he visited the new volcano on Bogoloo island, and found the only changes since last year's visit to be less discharge of smoke and steam, and a small point making off from the northwest end. Birds had commenced nesting in the new volcano. The party reached St. Michaels June 26, after encountering heavy ice to the westward of St. Lawrence island. At St. Michaels Lieut. Stoney secured nearly all the fur clothing required; also eighteen good dogs and three good teams. The dogs cost about $150 each, in exchange for goods. An interpreter was also engaged and shipped as an ordinary seaman. Lieutenant Stoney intended taking with him two natives as drivers, and the wife of one of them. He expected to leave at once for St. Lawrence bay, and thence to proceed to Hotham inlet. All on board the schooner Viking were well and showed great interest in the work ahead of them.

Hanlan Victorious.

The boat race between Hanlan, Ross and Lee, three miles with a turn, came off at Shrewsbury, New York bay, on the 7th. The race was for a purse of $1200 contributed by the hotels. The money was to be divided—$600 to first, $400 to second and $200 to third. It was a sort of procession without interest, and was witnessed by only a few people. Hanlan held a slight lead, rowing easily throughout, while Ross and Lee rowed here, there and everywhere over the course, and ran into each other twice. Hanlan finished first in 21:21 by three lengths, Lee second, ten lengths ahead of Ross. Both Lee and Ross claimed a foul, but the referee did not change their positions.

Music Lessons.

A young lady who has had the advantage of receiving instruction in music from Professor Oliver King, (Pianist to Princess Louise) is desirous of obtaining a limited number of music pupils, and will give lessons at her residence, or if desired at their own homes. THE LONDON SCANDALS.

Trial of Editor Stead—A Great Crowd Manifesting Much Excitement.

In the police court in London on the 7th inst. Mr. Stead, editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, Mrs. Jarrett, Bramwell Booth, Mrs. Coombe, Mr. Jaques and Madame Maury, defendants in the so-called abduction case, appeared in the Bow-street police court to-day in answer to charges against them. Stead conducted his own case, while counsel represented the others. The excitement in the court-room and vicinity has seldom if ever been equaled. The police were powerless to control the mob, who assembled to hear the proceedings. Members of the Salvation army were arriving all morning in cabs, and were hooted and jostled by the crowd on their way into the court-room. In the court there was a compact mass of people. A number of reporters were present; also many members of the Salvation army, and quite a sprinkling of brothel-keepers.

Mrs. Jarrett sat in the prisoners' dock, while Stead and Bramwell Booth had seats in front of the dock.

THE CROWN'S CASE.

Poland, solicitor for the treasury, opened the case for the crown with a long speech, in which he gave a description of how the girl was obtained from her mother, the outrages to which she had been subjected after she was installed in Madame Maury's establishment, and the ill-treatment received from the time she had left her mother until she was recovered and taken home. Mrs. Jarrett, during Poland's statement, sat with calm demeanor, her eyes closed and her head nodding, closely resembling Charles Dicken's Sally Brass in the "Old Curiosity Shop." Stead appeared unconcerned, smiling occasionally and at times denying Poland's allegations.

At the close of his address to the court Poland demanded the committal of all the defendants for trial.

THE GIRL TESTIFIES.

The child, Eliza Armstrong, was placed on the witness stand, and identified Mrs. Jarrett as the woman who had secured her from her mother, on a plea of needing her assistance for housework. The girl then gave in detail all the circumstances connected with her abduction.

Eliza Armstrong further testified that at a medical examination immediately after she was decoyed from home, a physician tested her innocence, despite her screams, and that afterwards she was dispatched to France to prevent the police from getting possession of her for her mother. She wrote several letters home, but members of the Salvation army who had charge of her suppressed them. This ended the girl's testimony for the day. The defendants intimated that they would contest the accuracy of many of the girl's statements. The court then adjourned until to-morrow.

STEAD STILL DEFIANT.

It is stated on good legal authority at Bow street examination during the day, Editor Stead, of the Pall Mall Gazette, who has been all day in consultation with his friends, will admit the conspiracy, but will claim good intentions or absence of evil intent, which law writers claim is necessary to constitute a crime. He will contend that the object of his exposures was proper, and he will give the names of all the offenders unless he is prevented by the magistrate. He would publish the names on Tuesday and take the consequence.

THE FORT TOWNSEND FIRE.

The Total Loss is $30,000 with no Insurance.

On the morning of the 6th a fire was discovered on Water street, opposite the Centennial hotel. There is no organized fire company or engine of any kind here, and much property was lost through lack of proper appliances that otherwise would have been saved. Citizens hurriedly formed bucket brigades, and water was brought from the bay, which kept the fire from spreading to the opposite side of the streets, and after four hours' hard fighting the fire was gotten under control at Terris' livery stable, which was the only building left standing in the block. The Centennial hotel, custom house and other buildings opposite the block were terribly scorched, and for a time no hope was entertained of saving them. Two Climax fire extinguishers belonging to the Centennial hotel did splendid work, and their use undoubtedly saved the block, as the hotel was exposed to a terrible heat, being just opposite the I. X. L. Saloon, which was entirely consumed. The total loss is $30,000 or more; no insurance. It is impossible to obtain correct figures. The principal losers are C. M. Bradshaw, large two-story frame building and some of his law office fixtures, $6500. A. J. Smith, IXL hotel and other buildings, $6000. Thomas Phillips, two large buildings, $1500. F. M. Terry, $2500. Moffatt & Fulton, blacksmith tools and machinery, steam engine, etc., $4000. Wermouth & Bell, blacksmith tools and fixtures, $500. Mrs. Hastings, buildings, $500 to $600. The fire was discovered by the night watchman in the custom house and is supposed to be the work of incendiaries. Three hard looking customers have been locked up on suspicion. Enoch F. Plummer was slightly injured by falling from a building, but no other accidents occurred. The work of building on the burnt district has already commenced.

RE STOOPS TO CONQUER.

Captain Orr Turns a Grindstone at the Albion Iron Works.

The Seattle Chronicle is responsible for the following: Captain Cyrus Orr, is one of the best men in the employ of the O. R. & N. Co., on the Sound. He took a car load of machinery to Victoria one day last week on the Idaho. As his mate had been transferred to the Hayward, it was left for him to superintend the work of unloading from the steamer the heavy machinery. He not only superintended the work, but also took an active hand in the unloading. In a short time he couldn't be distinguished from a deck-hand. A jack-screw was necessary, and he went to the Albion Iron Works where he is well known, to borrow the same. His friends there didn't recognize him, begrimed and clad as he was. One sung out to him: "Come here and turn this grindstone." He obeyed as meekly as a child. Finally the manager came up to make inquiries respecting the loan of the jackscrew. "Be you on the boat?" inquired he. Being answered in the affirmative, he inquired: "Be you a dish washer or a deck hand?" "I am neither," was the reply. "Who will be responsible for this jackscrew?" he continued. "I will. I am master of the boat," said the smiling captain. The boys in the factory, who had treated him as a deck hand, were dumbfounded and hastened to make amends for employing him as a handy factotum.

FROM VICTORIA TO THE MAINLAND.

We left Victoria by the safe and commodious steamer "Teaser" on Tuesday night the 1st inst. The night was very foggy and when about five miles out had to cast anchor. We remained in that position all night and part of next day. Next morning coffee hot was the general cry; but the fog was so thick that the cook could not find the coffee-pot, and it was about 9 o'clock before he could get breakfast on the table. It was quite a lively time from about eight o'clock, whistles blowing on every side, but nothing to be seen thro' the thick curtain. At last a break appeared in the mist and we could discern the "Amelia" lying at anchor about 200 yards from us. The "Western Slope" next put in an appearance less than 100 feet from us, feeling her way to Victoria, having sailed from New Westminster the previous morning. Shortly after the "Geo. E. Starr" passed in the same predicament; then the "Yosemite" loomed to sight and dropped anchor between the "Teaser" and "Amelia." Altogether there were four steamers anchored within a quarter of a mile from each other. The heart-stirring strains of the famous highland bagpipes could be heard on board the Yosemite, which had on board a party of Scotchman on a pleasure excursion to New Westminster, to participate in the Caledonian games there. About three o'clock in the afternoon the fog lifted, enabling us to proceed on our journey. First the "Amelia," then the "Yosemite," and lastly the "Ettie White," passed us, leaving us to bring up the rear. When opposite Mayne Island the "Wellington," bound inward to Departure Bay, crossed our bows. We reached about 8 p.m., and dropped anchor opposite Mr. Collin's house for the night. Next morning at 7 o'clock, we got under weigh again though still very hazy; but Captain Moore who was well versed in the navigation of the channel had no difficulty in finding the buoys, and eventually the English cannery was passed. To New Westminster the banks of the river are low and flat, and from their appearance would say likewise swampy. We reached New Westminster about 1:30 p. m., and were rather surprised to find that the Yosemite which passed us the previous day had not arrived; she, however, put in an appearance about two hours afterwards; one victory for the Teaser. Altogether the trip across the straits was a pleasant one, the cook exerting himself, and very successfully, to make us as comfortable as possible.

NEW WESTMINSTER

was in an uproar for about two hours by the enthusiastic Scotchmen from the "Yosemite." Disappointed by fickle fortune from participating in the games, they made up for it, and to use a Scotch phrase, "had a grand time." Business is very dull in New Westminster, hardly anything doing, nearly all the younger laboring men have gone to the mines, leaving the town almost deserted; compared with Victoria it seems asleep. The city is built on the side of a hill, rather steep to be convenient, giving it, however, a picturesque appearance. The principle public buildings are the gaol, now nearly finished, the insane asylum, the penitentiary and the post office, all good, substantial buildings, and possessing ample accommodation. The Sisters' Convent is a handsome stone structure, occupying a beautiful site on the brow of the hill. We found comfortable lodgings and good board at the Farmers' Home, kept by Mr. Holden.

GRANVILLE AND BURRARD INLET.

Next morning we started with the stage to Granville situated on Coal Harbor, just within the entrance of Burrard Inlet. Granville is a snug little place, and the site of the proposed terminal city of Vancouver; and a magnificent site it is for a large city; gently sloping upwards from the water, no inconvenience will be experienced by steep grades in the streets, and stagnant gutters. Water is not very plentiful in the immediate neighborhood, but a good supply can be had from a short distance. The bay is roomy, well sheltered and the water deep enough to admit the largest vessels, merchant or man-of-war. Here are the large saw mill of the one of the oldest lumber Co.'s in the Province. Their capacity is 60,000 feet of sawn lumber per day, employing 60 men in and around the mill and a large number in the woods logging, &c. There are three hotels in the place, of which the Sunnyside is the principal, the furnishing of which is nearly completed; several frame houses are being built, and a good time is generally expected here in the spring. No doubt, Granville in the near future will be a very important place.

PORT MOODY.

Returning to New Westminster we took the stage next morning to Port Moody. The road to this place is very rough and has been neglected. Port Moody boasts of four hotels, a few stores and houses, scattered over an area of a mile without regard to form or regularity. From what has been said about this place the visitor is painfully disappointed with its appearance. The inhabitants and those who have purchased lots here appear to be asleep, awaiting the coming time when these lots would rise in value and give them a rich harvest without exertion on their part. This has been the ruin of Port Moody. There is not a good road in the place, not even what we would call a good trail, except the railway track. If the people had exerted themselves to improve their property and had shown some system to work on, an attraction would have been given to the place which it now woefully lacks, and which is made more conspicuous by the many streams of water running down from the high bluffs. The tide runs out half a mile and in hot weather the smell from the kelp and other sea weeds must be bad. The most comfortable hotel in Port Moody is the Winnipeg Hotel, kept by an old-esterns Nor'wester, Pat Carey, who keeps a splendid table and the best of liquors. If you want to enjoy anything at all in this place go there. The railway runs through here; but very little can be said about that as yet. Returning to New Westminster and thence by the Teaser to Victoria, where we arrived on Tuesday morning, having enjoyed the trip perfectly.

TRAVELLER.

Ayer's Ague Cure, when used according to directions, is warranted to eradicate from the system all forms of malarial disease, such as Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, Intermittent, Remittent and Bilious Fevers and disorders of the liver. Try it. The experiment is a safe one, and will soon you nothing if cure is not effected.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

THE Toronto Globe comes out with a qualified support of customs union with the United States.

THE Calumet and Hecla mine, in the upper peninsular of Michigan, has paid $27,350,000 in dividends, on a capital of $2,500,000.

SAN FRANCISCO fishermen say the seals and sea lions around the harbor must go, as they consume 44,000 tons of fish a year—enough to supply the whole city.

IF THE Manitoba court dissents as to the legality of RIEL'S trial an appeal may be taken to the Dominion Supreme Court, and an appeal may be taken thence to the Privy Council.

EXPERIMENTS are in progress at the Rideau range near Ottawa, by the Canadian militia to settle the question as to the amount of execution that can be done with a Gatling gun.

THE Russian Jews of New York now number thousands, and have their own markets, synagogues, butchers, and one of the most thoroughly novel theaters in the country.

HON. THOMAS WHITE, M. P., late editor of the Montreal Gazette, in a speech at the Press banquet on Saturday night, claimed to be "the oldest pressman in Canada of continuous service." He has been in harness 33 years. But he will have to take a back seat, as MR. BLACKBURN, of the London Free Press, has been over that period in active press life.

THE prosecution in the St. Louis murder case has the formidable task to perform of demonstrating that PRELLER is dead and that MAXWELL killed him. It does not now appear that either can be proven. The corpse found in the trunk was so far gone in decomposition that nobody who knew PRELLER could positively say it was his body. There is really no proof that PRELLER is dead. The case is a decidedly knotty one.

A WINNIPEG dispatch of the 2nd inst. states that WILLIAM SHELFORD, engineer of the Great Eastern railway of London, and consulting engineer of the Winnipeg & Hudson Bay railway, accompanied, by R. J. MOOSEY, his assistant, has arrived for the purpose of investigating as to the feasibility and cost of building a railway to Hudson Bay. If they report the road can be built for $25,000 per mile, HON SUTHERLAND, M. P., who is the principal promoter of the road, says English capital is ready to prosecute the enterprise.

THE cultivation of the sugar beet has been successful in California, so far as it has been tried. There is a factory at Alvarado which has made 1250 tons of refined beet sugar this season. This is said to be four times greater than the total sorghum sugar in the United States. The Alvarado factory has been in operation six years, and its profits are computed at $104,000 on an investment of $125,000. The growers get $4 50 a ton for beets, and the yield is said to average twenty tons to the acre. The factory pays out about $90,000 a year for beets.

THE cotton mills in New Brunswick, as well as those in the upper province, are rapidly recovering from the depression that has hung over the industry of late years. The Gibson mill at Marysville is turning out three quarters of a million yards weekly; machinery has been bought for the manufacture of batting and cotton flannel, and the full capacity, fifty five thousand spindles, it is expected, will soon be in operation. The new Brunswick mill, the pioneer in the province, has been for some time running its full power, and is doing a good trade. This mill has again passed into the hands of its old proprietors, MESSRS. PARKS & Son.

THERE is apparently some very unpleasant feeling among the settlers of the Northwest of Canada over the arms act passed by the late parliament. The Northwest arms act, as originally presented, would have disarmed every individual in that region, but it was modified so as to apply only to proclaimed districts. The Ottawa government can, at pleasure, proclaim districts, and the settlers naturally resent the assumption that they are all rebels in posse. They assert that they require arms for their own protection, and do not wish to be subjected to the methods employed by Great Britain as to Ireland. The Ottawa government has by no means popularized itself by the adoption of such a measure as the arms act.

CARDWELL ELECTION.

The re-election of the HONORABLE THOMAS WHITE, on his acceptance of the office of Minister of the Interior, in Cardwell, Ontario, on the 27th ult., by the splendid majority of 672 over his Conservative opponent, DR. ALLISON, is a result of which the hon. gentleman may justly feel proud. To have contested the seat against MR. WHITE was a grave blunder by the honorable gentleman's opponents, who were undoubtedly of his own faith, as the vote attests. In 1882, when the issue was a pure party one, MR. WHITE'S majority over MR. McLAUGHLIN was 341. The riding is a thoroughly Conservative one in which, the Orange and Catholic element is very strong. The former gentleman is reported to belong to the Orange order while the latter was a professed adherent of the Roman Catholic faith. In the recent contest it is asserted that, throwing partyism aside, the bulk of the Liberal vote was cast for MR. WHITE as the better man of the two contestants. And in this there is conveyed a lesson that should be noted. For a long time—and even still to a certain degree—it was a political axiom that no matter what stamp of an individual was set up the rank and file of either party were bound to accord him their support and suffrages. Happily for the country a new race has arisen that know not the Josephs of old, and with many of these the character of the individual seeking preferment at their hands is of more importance than the issues upon which the contending parties appeal to the country. In Britain, the United States and Canada men are now brought forward for positions of trust whose reputation is beyond question. Unfortunately for both parties in this country each is encumbered with political Jonahs—rapacious barnacles, vampires who are unable to obtain a livelihood in any other manner than by clinging to the skirts of their party in the hope of receiving a share in the divisions of the loaves and fishes. In MR. WHITE his friends had a gentleman who was no load on their shoulders. It is true he had often been defeated ere Cardwell took compassion on him; but for that he is not blameable. His thorough familiarity with all public questions—for whether it be to his credit or otherwise it is well known MR. WHITE, like MR GLADSTONE, has changed his political faith, as well as his views on trade questions on more than one occasion—gave him great advantages over his opponent. His established reputation as a speaker and journalist at once commanded the esteem and respect of his political detractors. His training has been such as to fit him specially for the duties of an executive administrator, and like his confrere, the HON. MR. BOWELL, Minister of Customs, the country's requirements, we are assured, are safe in MR. WHITE'S hands. With the pressmen of Canada he has always been a favorite; he has administered hard knocks and was always prepared to receive equally as severe ones. In recognition of this, on his return to Montreal after his election he was accorded a warm reception and entertained at a complimentary banquet in that city, at which were present members of the Quebec and Ontario press, regardless of bias. It was indeed a fitting tribute to one of themselves who, for a third of a century, had struggled faithfully and loyally for the cause he had espoused, until at last he had reached a very high rung in the ladder of political fame and closing his career as a journalist with the acceptance of a seat in the Cabinet of the great council of the nation. MR. WHITE will visit many sections of the Northwest, and becoming familiar with the wants of its people, will endeavor, so far as in him lays, to bring about a better feeling and a fuller appreciation on the part of our refractory prairie cousins of the efforts that are being made in their behalf by one who is determined to do them justice.

A LEADING American journal, referring to the Chinese question, says: There is some ground for the apprehension expressed by the California papers, that, by JUDGE SAWYER'S recent decision that under the restriction act Chinamen have the right of appeal to the federal supreme court, the act will become a dead letter; for pending the decision of the higher court, a period of several years, the Chinese can reside here under bail bonds, readily furnished by the Chinese companies in San Francisco. If the decision is against them they will return home only after the usual time of Chinese residence in this country. The anti-Chinese legislation of congress has certainly failed to keep Chinese laborers out of the country. If they do not get in through San Francisco, they come in through British Columbia and Mexico. The most effective measure of restriction would be that suggested by JOHN RUSSELL YOUNG, who points to the fact that nearly every Chinaman coming here leaves China from Hongkong island, which is British territory. The British government would no doubt be willing to adopt some arrangement which would modify very greatly the volume of Chinese laborer emigration from that point.

THE HON. WILFRED LAURIER, the popular French Canadian Liberal leader in the Dominion Parliament, intends paying a visit to Ontario at an early date. MR. LAURIER is one of the best informed and most progressive men in Canadian public life at the present time.

THE sultan is not inclined to favor England's proposition that he assume control of the Soudan and occupy it with Turkish troops. Doubtless he doesn't care to see his soldiers melt away before the rays of the tropic sun as those of England have been doing the past year or so.

HON. PETER MITCHELL, MR. DUNCAN MCINTYRE, MR. JOHN CASSILS and other gentlemen from Montreal have arrived in the Northwest.

THE BRITISH MEAT MARKET.

The enormous yearly increase in the shipment of live stock to Britain has completely surprised every one who has taken a passive interest in the meat supply for Britain's artizans. The ease with which animals can now be transported from one side of the Atlantic to the other, and the cheapness with which they can be raised on the American continent, has undoubtedly greatly lessened the profits hitherto realized by Britain's stock raisers. From Canada alone the shipments are of such a magnitude as to employ fleets of cargo steamers specially adapted to that trade. Realizing the fact that the Northwest territories, and even British Columbia, will shortly be in a position to raise stock for export, the Canadian Pacific Railway company are already making every preparation for that which ultimately must become one of its principal sources of traffic revenue. At Montreal extensive stock yards have been already constructed to accommodate its present traffic. The North Shore line having passed under their control. Quebec has been selected as the St. Lawrence deep water terminus of their line. MR. VAN HORNE recently assured the citizens of the "Ancient Capital" that it was the intention of the C. P. R. Company to erect large elevators there, stock yards and such other terminal facilities as were deemed necessary for such a line as the Canadian transcontinental railway. While many may regard much that has been written and spoken as to our future in the light of booming utterances it is safe to say that a considerable portion of these predictions will be realized. Already our neighbors across the boundary line have sent shipments to Liverpool and London from Sprague, Spokane Falls, and other points, with advantageous results.

In July a shipment was consigned to a London firm by a MR. MORETON FREWEN from Wyoming Territory. The shipment comprised 100 head; they were calved in Oregon, brought over to the Wyoming ranch for maturity, from thence driven to the line of the Northern Pacific, whence they were transported to Superior City where they were stall fed for a period, and from thence by the lakes to Buffalo, where they again took rail to New York, and on to England. They were all four-year-olds. The freight of this shipment was as follows, in the figures given by MR. FREWEN: From Wyoming by the Northern Pacific Railway, $8; from Superior City to Buffalo by steamer, $4; from Buffalo by rail to New York, $1 25; from New York to Deptford, on the Thames, $12 50, total cost per head, $16 75. Certain further charges, however, must be debited to the shipment for food, insurance, caretaking and return journey of their caretakers, all of which being added makes the freight of each animal, according to MR. FREWEN, amount to $28, or calculating five dollars to the pound sterling, £5 12s. MR. FREWEN says that any number of such beasts can be bought in Wyoming for £6 10s per head, which makes £12 2s the cost price of each animal at Deptford. The London salesman to whom these beasts were consigned sold them in a poor market at the end of July for an average price of £19 per head, leaving a profit of £7 or $35 on each. In this calculation there does not appear to be included any margin for a prolonged fattening process at Superior City unless it be included in the $7 charged from the ranch to Buffalo, but the profit shown, if always realizable, is sufficient to allow such margin as may be absolutely necessary in this transaction, and MR. FREWEN says that in a short time the cost of moving beasts from Western ranches to Deptford will not exceed £4 14s. per head instead of the £5 12s. we have just computed. If this be so, the prospect for Canadian cattlemen is bright, for there is a market in England for all the cattle we can send for many years to come. No foreign shipments appear to affect the London price, the least fall in prices increases the number of customers and the amounts taken by them. The drawback in the cattle trade is probably that which exists in all staple articles in the English market, viz., the profit that middlemen demand and the hold they have obtained on the market. The combined forces of philanthropy and speculation have been unable to discomfort the middleman of the London fishmarket, and there are no doubt interests—the growth of years—that stand in the way of a clear profit to the cattle shipper. But time and persistence will overcome these, for beef is not of the same perishable nature as fish, and middlemen can have, therefore, less control of the market. In the meantime our cattlemen may see the figures from across the line with which they have to compete, and may learn something from the experience of a practical man like MR. FREWEN.

A conference on the land question was held on the 2nd inst. at Portree, county of Inverness, on the Island of Skye. There were 151 delegates from all parts of Scotland present. A number of fervid orations were delivered, some of them in Gaelic. The speakers advocated more generous terms by which farmers could purchase their holdings, and denounced the landlords for their alleged tyranny. They advised the tenants to stand firm in their demands and to refuse the payment of rent unless concessions, suitable to the depression in the agricultural districts, were made by the landlords. The outcome of the conference to day was the formation of an organization for preventing evictions. M. McGREGOR of Chicago in a speech promised the organization the sympathy of their Scottish-American brethren, which he said would take the form of a subscription to enable them to carry out the objects of the meeting.

IT is estimated by the Northern Pacific Railroad officials that they can carry cattle weighing 1000 lbs. from any point in Dakota or Montana to London at $22 80 per head.

FASHIONLETS.

Blue flannel and red flannel dresses are made for girls' country and traveling suits.

Fans of large and unique forms are the only ones that should be used for wall decorations.

Large bows of wide ribbon or of piece goods, generally soft silk, adorn many summer frocks.

Egyptian and Arabian fancies in furnishing and decorating rooms are the caprice of the moment.

Velvet bonnet strings are being laid aside for those of lace and gauzy stuffs, especially gauze ribbons.

Bead embroidery on the collars, cuffs and waistcoats of dressy jackets are among other decorative fancies.

Red silk jerseys are prettily worn over skirts of printed sateen or percale figured with red for house dresses.

Tennis, afternoon teas, trotting and private theatricals are the amusements of Washington this spring.

Individual salt cruets in vari-colored glass, with silver-plated tops, in new flat shapes, are sold for $1.04 the dozen.

The same latitude prevails in the matter of the choice of materials for a bride's dress that is given in other fashions at present.

Full jabot ruffles of black lace are placed down the fronts, around the bottom, the neck and sleeves of dressy black silk street jackets.

To brighten up a black silk for summer a plaited vest is now used of dull, pale blue, pearl gray, rose color or striped black and white satin surah. This vest is of the finest knife plaiting its whole length, and sometimes tulle or thin French crape of the same color is laid over it.

Commodore Vanderbilt's Horse Trade.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

It was at a time when the New York Central railroad was welcoming friends. One day the commodore encountered Jedediah Barber, just out of Homer, beside a pasture lot. One horse was in the lot, and Jedediah seemed to be bestowing most affectionate glances upon the animal. "Whose land is this, Mr. Barber?" Thus the commodore. "Mine, sir." Thus Jedediah. "Fine property and a nice-looking beast that is over there, Mr. Barber." The commodore was suave. Jedediah was a man whose friendship was worth having. "Right you are." Jedediah was emphatic. "How much will you take for the horse?" was the commodore's question. "Don't want to sell," was Jedediah's answer. "I like the animal's looks, and would give you a pretty good price," the commodore persists. "Can't help it; half of that horse belongs to Farmer Jones, down below," Jedediah explains. "I will take my chances with Jones and give you $300 for the other half." "Cash?" asks Jedediah, with a twinkle in his eye. "Just the same—a check payable on sight, and to bind the bargain I'll hand you my watch to keep till you get your money." The watch was as handsome as any worn in that day, and Jedediah was the man that wore it ever after, for with a candor that chilled the railroad magnate he explained: "Mr. Vanderbilt, this lot is mine; one-half of that horse is Farmer Jones'—and so is the other half. He pays me to let it pasture here. If anything gets the matter with this timepiece I'll send you word. I'm to keep it, you know, till you find my half of that quadruped." Mr. Jedediah Barber thought this was funny, and the commodore, with rather a grim sort of humor on his countenance, had to try to show that he was just as much amused as anybody else. The two men were warm friends ever after ward, and the watch was not wasted, perhaps.

A Dog That Could Understand.

[Baptist Weekly.]

A shepherd once, to prove the quickness of his dog, who was lying before the fire in the house where we talking, said to me in the middle of a sentence concerning something else, "I am thinking, sir, the cow is in the potatoes." Though he purposely laid no stress on these words and said them in a quiet, unconcerned tone of voice, the dog, who appeared to be asleep, immediately jumped up and, leaping through an open window, scrambled up the turf roof of the house, from whtch he could see the potato field. He then (not seeing the cow there) ran and looked into the farm yard, where she was, and, finding that all was right, came back to the house. After a short time the shepherd said the same words again and the dog repeated the outlook, but on the false alarm being a third time given the dog got up and, wagging his tail, looked his master in the face with so comical an expression of interrogation that he could not help laughing at him. On which, with a slight growl, he laid himself down in his warm corner with an offended air, as if determined not to be made a fool of again.

An Extensive Aquarium.

[Foreign Correspondence.]

The most popular institution of Brighton is the Royal aquarium, the most perfect thing of its kind in Europe. The establishment has been literally dug and blocked out of the rocks. It is underground. The vast galleries, concert-rooms, restaurants and long corridors of tanks are all more or less excavations. The entrance hall is 80x45 feet, and the longest corridor in the building is 200 feet, broken in the center by a vestibule 55x45 feet. The tanks are ranged on both sides, and are spacious and full of fish. One of the tanks is 45x10 feet, and contains 110,000 gallons of water. On the top of the aquarium there are handsome terrace gardens, with balconies overlooking a skating rink and a wide stretch of open sea.

A Successful Family.

[Foreign Exchange.]

The great commercial family of Baring, a member of which has recently been ennobled, is said to be the most successful of the period in England, having had three peerages in fifty years. Alexander Baring, Lord Ashburton, for whom Ashburton place in this city was named, married the rich Miss Bingham, of Philadelphia and negotiated with Mr. Webster the famous Ashburton treaty.

Preparing for an Emergency.

[New York Sun.]

Young man—Can you lend me your rubber mark-eraser until morning, Charley?

Charley—Certainly.

Young man—Thanks. I'm going up to-night to ask old Moneybags for his daughter, and if I don't get her I shall want something to bite on my way home.

Managing Johnny Bulls.

[Arkansaw Traveler.]

During the excitement of discussion this paper might have said something to wound the feelings of Mr. Gladstone. If so, now that the crisis has come, we earnestly beg the old statesman's pardon. We have never lost sight of the fact that Mr. Gladstone had a tiresome contract on his hands. Managing a pianola stocked with steers is a pretty serious matter, but it is mere play compared with managing an empire of bulls.

Foundation of the Continents.

Mr. T. Mellard Reade, addressing the Liverpool Geological society on "The Denudation of the Two Americas," showed that 150,000,000 tons of matter in solution are annually poured into the Gulf of Mexico by the Mississippi river. This, it was estimated, would reduce the time for the denudation of one foot of land over the whole basin—which time has hitherto been calculated solely from the matter in suspension—from 6,000 years to 4,000 years. Similar calculations were applied to the La Plata, the Amazon and the St. Lawrence; and Mr. Reade arrived at the result that an average of 100 tons per square mile per annum is removed from the whole American continent. This agrees with results he had previously arrived at for Europe, from which it was inferred that the whole of the land draining into the Atlantic ocean from America, Africa, Europe and Asia contributes matter in solution which, if reduced to rock at two tons to the cubic yard, would equal one cubic mile every six years.

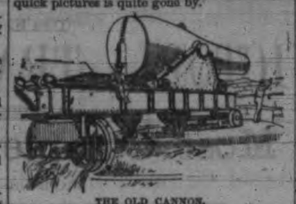
SCIENCE AND PROGRESS

How Our Pictures are Made.

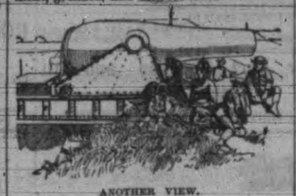
The newspapers are passing through the illustrating phase. There never before were so many pictures, good, bad and indifferent, made and printed in them. Knowing how to draw and sketch well is one of the most useful of accomplishments in our day.

The processes by which the newspaper pictures are perfected are full of interest. They are improving every year. The old method of wood cutting and engraving for quick pictures is quite gone by.



THE OLD CANNON.

The aged gun here given is shown merely for purposes of illustration. It is to be seen at Fort Hamilton, one of the defenses of New York. As one steams up the Narrows, between Staten Island and Long Island, he sees on each side of him a military fort, with sharp lines and mounds of grass-grown earthworks. That on the Long Island side is Fort Hamilton; upon Staten Island, Fort Lafayette. The gun here shown is the largest one in Fort Hamilton. It looks very dangerous and wicked indeed, with its long iron body and its smooth, clean wheelworks and carriage. Oh, yes, killingly so. And it is wicked, the wickedest gun in America. That is to say, it wouldn't hurt anybody but the person who fired it off. It never was discharged but once. It never will be again, unless all the navies of Europe are threatening New York at once, and this is the last cannon left this side of the Atlantic. The old fellow was used to fire the first shot of a salute. Powder was rammed into his insides, and he was touched off, regulation style. He hesitated a moment, groaned, and then let loose.



ANOTHER VIEW.

He ran back to the extreme end of the carriage, buttel madly against the iron guard you see in the rear, ran forward again as far as his fastenings would allow, and then up-ended wildly in the air and stopped. Kicked! He fairly tore up the ground, and scared the gunners till they turned white.

Since that day nobody has been found brave enough to load and discharge the old thing. It's uncertain, you know, which end it will go off at. So it remains with nothing to do but to stand there and look pretty. They say it is to be taken down to Sandy Hook and have steel bands put around it to hold it together. Its highest use is that to which you see it put in Fig. 1, to be a background against which a group of ladies and pretty children may sit to have their photograph taken by an artist. That was just what our artist, Mr. Knickerbocker, did. Photography has largely done away with outdoor sketching. The artist no longer sits hours in the broiling sun drawing, guyed by the profane herd and bitten by mosquitoes. He packs up a little photographing apparatus, such as was described in this column a few weeks ago, goes to the place where he wants to make a picture and photographs it all in a few minutes. Then he carries his views home, and copies them with crayon or pen and ink at his leisure. Instead of sketching them from nature he photographs them from nature, and then sketches them from the photographs comfortably at home. Instead of carrying a portfolio full of pencil sketches, he carries a portfolio of photographs. The best and most distinguished artists now use this process.

The pictures of the old gun were thus made. Mr. Knickerbocker is an amateur photographer as well as artist. He drew from his photograph outline pictures of the cannon. The outline picture is the one that can be most advantageously used in a newspaper.

But the photographing is not yet done. The outline picture itself is photographed upon a metal plate. It is brought to the right size to go into the column by placing it near to or far from the camera. The art editor's directions to the engraver will frequently be written upon the edge of the picture card thus: "Reduce one-half"; "Reduce two-thirds." The picture is photographed upon a metal plate the right size to fit into the column. Then the depressions and lights are etched or eaten in by strong acids. It is done by coating the whole surface with a substance that resists acids, and then carefully removing this substance from those parts of the plate which it is desired the acid should take hold of. After passing through this process the plate, which went in a smooth surface, comes out all full of ridges and hollows, by which one uninitiated could never make out a picture. Then the plate is "mounted," as it is called; that is, fastened upon a metal block. That is put into the column in the proper place, along with the type, ready to be printed from. This process of making pictures cheaply and rapidly enables all newspaper readers, even the poorest, to become familiar with the looks of distinguished persons the world over. It also illustrates for them the latest inventions and scientific news of interest. The pictures are not very high art, nor are they intended to be. But they serve a useful purpose in spreading knowledge, and that is enough.

It is surprising how rapidly outline pictures, such as those that appear in our columns, are sketched. A skilled artist will sometimes make one in fifteen or twenty minutes. They require any length of time from that up to an hour or two. It depends both on the subject and the artist. So that even though photographing is so largely used in newspaper pictures, they depend at last on how well the artist knows how to draw.

Questions Answered.

Ask the most eminent physician

Of any school, what is the best thing in the world for allaying all irritation of the nerves, and curing all forms of nervous complaints, giving natural, childlike refreshing sleep always?

And they will tell you unhesitatingly

"Some form of Hops!!!"

CHAPTER I.

Ask any or all of the most eminent physicians:

"What is the only remedy that can be relied on to cure all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs; Bright's disease, diabetes, retention, or inability to retain urine, and all the diseases and ailments peculiar to Women"

"And they will tell you explicitly and emphatically, "Buchu!!!"

Ask the same physicians

What is the most reliable and surest cure for all liver diseases or dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion, biliousness, malaria, fever, ague, &c.," and they will tell you

Mandrake or Dandelion!!!!

Hence, when these remedies are combined with others equally valuable

And compounded into Hop Bitters, such a wonderful and mysterious curative power is developed, which is so varied in its operations that no disease or ill health can possibly exist or resist its power, and yet it is

THE BEST ROUTE AND

SHORT LINE

BETWEEN Omaha, Council Bluffs & Chicago.

The only line to take for Des Moines, Marshalltown, Cedar Rapids, Clinton, Dixon, Chicago, Milwaukee, and all points East. To the people of Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Washington and California, it offers superior advantages not possible by any other line.

Among a few of the numerous points of superiority enjoyed by the patrons of this road between Omaha and Chicago, are its two trains a day of DAY COACHES, which are the finest that human art and ingenuity can create; its PALACE SLEEPING CARS, which are models of comfort and elegance; its PARLOR DRAWING ROOM CARS, unsurpassed by any; and its widely celebrated PALATIAL DINING CARS, the equal of which cannot be found elsewhere.

At Council Bluffs the trains of the Union Pacific Ry. connect in Union Depot with those of the Chicago & Northwestern Ry. In Chicago the trains of this line make close connection with those of all Eastern lines.

For Detroit, Columbus, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Pittsburg, Toronto, Montreal, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and all points in the East ask the Ticket Agent for tickets via the

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

While the TIMES is always prepared to give publicity to the views of correspondents on any question of interest to the public, provided facts are given, couched in unobjectionable language, we wish it to be understood that we do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by the writers thereof.

Nor can we give room to duplicates of letters that have appeared in our contemporaries either in this city or elsewhere in the province. Correspondents, therefore, will save time and trouble in preparing such for THE TIMES, as they will be rejected.

Our space is valuable, and brevity, as far as possible, should be observed in writing on any topic, and on ONE SIDE of the sheet only.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—Before purchasing Real Estate or insuring your life, see Rand Bros.

—The Chemainus school has closed on account of typhoid fever. It is expected to re-open in a few days.

—The Eliza Anderson will hereafter leave Seattle for Victoria at 7 o'clock in the morning.

—A musical entertainment, in aid of St. Michael's Church, Lake District, will be held in the Cathedral schoolroom tomorrow evening.

—Mr. John Wilson, the popular baker, has removed to his new premises on Yates street.

—The Alma Stuart Stanley Company gave its second performance last evening, and left by the Sound steamer today.

—The rainfall of yesterday has had an excellent result. The air has been purified and the thick smoke, which has proved so disagreeable for weeks past has entirely disappeared.

—The New York Coffee and Chop House has opened in Burns' block, and the proprietors are now ready to supply customers with all the delicacies of the season.

—Consignees by the Starr: A J Rowbotham & Co, A Phillips, Brewster & Co, Bell, L & C, C Strauss, H Bay Co, J Cunningham, Larken & Bell, Matthews, R & T, McCluman & E, Neufelder & Ross, R Prower, Skinner & B, S J Pitts, S Clay, T Earle.

—Six car loads of bonded salmon, containing 2050 cases, from Victoria, went out from Tacoma on Monday morning for different points throughout Canada. Larger consignments than this have already gone east. When the C. P. R. opens, no more salmon will go down to Tacoma.

Distinguished Visitors.

From private and reliable sources THE TIMES learns that Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. John Henry Pope, and Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, will leave Ottawa on the 20th inst. for Victoria, coming via the N. P. R. The Governor-General will arrive in Winnipeg on the 16th inst., and leave on the 20th, coming through by the Canadian route and across the unfinished portion in conveyance. He will probably arrive in Victoria on the 7th of next month. Both parties will remain some time in the province and become as thoroughly acquainted with the country and its people as the length of their stay will permit. The return east will be by the Canadian Pacific Railway, and there is a strong probability that their departure from here will be so timed as to bring them to the spot where the last spike in the road will be driven and the formal completion of the great line will be celebrated. These dates, THE TIMES has good reason for believing, will be found to correspond with the movements of the distinguished gentlemen, although it is possible they may be slightly changed.

The Fire Department.

The old board of delegates of the fire department met last evening, and wound up the business of the year. The new board took their seats and proceeded to the election of officers, which resulted as follows: President, Wm. Lohse; Secretary, L. G. McQuade; Treasurer, T. Geiger. The Judiciary Committee were appointed by the President as follows: Wm. Wilson, Frank Sylvester and J. Wrigleworth. Finance Committee: H. Gribbel, J. Fort and A. Boarde. Supply Committee: John Flewin, Frank Sylvester, President and Chief Engineer. A resolution was adopted instructing the Secretary to inform the Council that the board would hand over the fire apparatus to the city in three months' time.

Coming to Victoria.

The Queen of the Pacific sailed on Monday for this and Sound ports. The following passengers are on board coming to Victoria: Capt Wise, A Curtis, D H Coolidge, Wm E Osee, C Marston, W P Thomas, Mr Gracometti and daughter, Miss C A Williamson, Mrs T Roblin, G Brown and wife, Mrs Turner, Mrs Wm Farrar, James Bais, wife and son, Lieut Emmett, O S Batcheler, James J Flaherty, D H Brittain, James King, Joseph Smith, Mrs H W Washington, C F Crocker, A Dunsmuir, I Seely, R J Wilson, R H Pease, Wm Cormick.

Boring for Oil.

The oil well at Elbi, near Tacoma, on Saturday night had reached a depth of 75 feet. There is very little change in the formation, it still being hard to drill through. The rope breaks nearly every day, though one of stronger material and 1500 feet in length will be put in use after sinking a few days more.

For Alaska.

The steamer Idaho left for Alaska this afternoon. Among the passengers were Senator Jones and family, of California and Governor Swineford and party, all of whom have been in Victoria for some days awaiting the steamer's arrival. Capt. Crittenden was also among the number.

To Load Wheat at Tacoma.

The ship Benj. F. Packard, of Bath, Me., Waterhouse master, arrived at Tacoma on the 7th, to take a cargo of 3200 tons of wheat, under charter by Balfour, Guthrie & Co., 30s, U. K.

THE BURGH MYSTERY.

The Statement of the Prisoner to a Police Officer.

The prisoner Richard A. Proctor was again in the dock at the police court this morning. The evidence of Sergt. Sheppard was taken as follows: I heard and took part in a conversation between the prisoner Proctor, Supt. Bloomfield and myself, on the 19th of August last, in the superintendent's private office. Prisoner was cautioned that any statement that he might make would be used in evidence against him. When asked what had become of Burgh he said he had left him at Graham Island, Tongas, and that he (Burgh) there took a canoe, with some Indians, to go up the Skikeen River, where he was going to take up a ranch. Burgh, prisoner also stated, had bought a squaw to take along with him, and had taken provisions with him from the sloop. Proctor claimed to have bought Burgh's interest in the sloop for $125, and said he had paid him for his gun and provisions from $70 to $75. He had no bill of sale from Burgh. On being asked how he came in possession of Burgh's ring and watch, Proctor said he had won them at poker. After leaving Burgh at Graham Island, prisoner and Craine took the sloop to Fort Wrangle and thence to Harrisburg. Being asked how he came to be in possession of so much money on his return to Victoria prisoner replied that he had won it playing poker at Harrisburg. Prisoner mentioned Sam Cohan's name, and was asked if he had played poker with him; he said no. Sergt. Sheppard (the witness) was personally familiar with every inch of Wrangle, and the description given by the prisoner of the place was not a correct one. All Proctor said he saw of Wrangle was the town, an Indian rancheree and a few Indian curios; he said that he did not see the old Russian fort, as he was not at that end of the island. Witness told him it was an utter impossibility to go to Wrangle without seeing the fort, and prisoner's statement convinced him that he was never there. Proctor said that Burgh had offered him a free passage in the sloop from Victoria to the mines, and that he did not have a dollar's interest in the boat. The watch he had won from Burgh, prisoner said had been stolen from him in Victoria and the ring had been given to a friend. The witness knew Cramer, Proctor's companion, and had watched his house on the night of the 19th, the day prisoner was arrested, but up to the present time he had not made his appearance, and had not since been seen in Victoria. The house is on Discovery street, between Douglas and Government streets. I there found the gun alleged to have been bought by prisoner from Burgh.

At this stage Superintendent Royeraft asked for a remand for eight days. The Idaho left for the north to-day, and the crown had taken steps to ascertain from the United States authorities at Wrangle if the statement made by prisoner as to his having visited that place and Harrisburg, was correct; other inquiries would be made in the north, and the crown hoped on the return of the steamer, to be in a position to go on with the prosecution.

Mr. Taylor, counsel for the prisoner, objected, on the ground that there was no evidence to bind prisoner, and no proof of Burgh's death had been adduced. The court, however, held that there was a reasonable suspicion against prisoner and did not feel disposed to set him at liberty in the meantime. He was therefore remanded for eight days.

PERSONAL MENTION

The Ameer Abdicates.

A London dispatch of the 7th, says the Ameer of Bokhara has abdicated in favor of his son Turani, who is inimical to Russian interests and friendly towards England. Russia has determined to extend her railway system through Bokhara, despite the protests of Turani. The Bokharan embassy is at present in St. Petersburg discussing the question with the Russian ministry. A concession for building a railway was obtained by Russia from the father of Turani, and is in connection with the Trans-Caspian railway.

Filigree Jewelry

We have examined some of this work at J. Dassonville & Co.'s, Fort street, and find it really remarkable how threads of silver so fine can be spun and made to form such beautiful styles of ornaments for the ladies. An early call will secure a choice selection.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

The Guardians of Our Schools in Open and Secret Session.

A meeting of the School Board was held last night, all the members in attendance.

Former minutes read and approved.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Miss Story, complaining of the untidy condition of James Bay school and the careless manner in which the janitor performs his work. Referred to the trustees of the ward with power to act.

From J. Robinson, C. M. C., in regard to the sidewalk on King's Road and Blanchard street, and stating that the work had been ordered to be done; also with respect to the night school, that the Council had no money to spend for that purpose.

Moved by Messrs. Heisterman and Braden that the letter be received and filed.

Mr. Higgins thought that this would be a summary way of dealing with the question. The letter was not an answer to the request of the Broad, which had asked for a conference.

Mr. Braden explained that he had endeavored in the Council to bring about a meeting, but the majority of the Council was against it, and his motion was voted down.

Mr. Higgins said he would bring the question forward in another form.

The Secretary reported that Mr. Offerhaus, assistant teacher of the High school, was unable to attend to his duties, and read Mr. Milne's certificate to that effect.

An account from John Stewart, plumber, $19.45. Ordered to be paid.

From Miss Armstrong, enclosing $2, collected from pupils in Mrs. Reid's department for broken windows. Filed.

From Wm. T. Welcker, superintendent of Public Instruction, Sacramento, Cal., replying to a letter from the Secretary and giving information as to the mode of endowment of the State University at that place. This letter stated, in the first place, that the revenue arising from the endowment, when not deemed sufficient was supplemented by appropriations. The endowment has had three sources: (1) Federal, made by congress; (2) State, made by the legislature; and (3) Private, benefactions made by individuals. In regard to the first, by an act of Congress, approved July 2, 1862, California received from the federal government 150,000 acres of public land for the endowment of a College of Agriculture, and that college is one of the colleges of the university of California. Also, 52,450 acres in two other grants. The principal endowment by the State was bonds, producing an annual revenue of $50,000. A number of individuals, from time to time, have given sums of money, or property, towards the general endowment of the university or of a particular college, or to the establishment of professorship. These were the sources of revenue. The communication was ordered to be laid on the table and the thanks of the Board to be sent to Mr. Welcker for the full information sent.

The monthly reports of school attendance were submitted. They showed an average daily attendance of 827.67, which, divided among seventeen teachers, gave an average to each of 48.68.

A letter was received from a pupil complaining of the treatment received from one of the teachers. Referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. McMicking moved that a couple of chairs be purchased for each of the ward schools. Seconded and carried.

The Board then went into Committee of the Whole, the signal for reporters and a bevy of lady teachers present to withdraw. What was done in the secret session is of course unreportable.

ADJOURNED COUNTY COURT.

(Before the Chief Justice.)

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 9.

Mrs. Annie Cox vs. Troupe. This case, in which a jury had been summoned, was withdrawn, by arrangement between the counsel on both sides.

R. E. Jackson vs. Yet Tai: W. G. Sifken, claimant. The interpleader summons, taken out by the Sheriff, not having been served in proper time, the hearing was directed to stand over until the court to be held on the 1st October next.

Gerow vs. Allan: Upon the taxation of costs in this action, Mr. Hett, in the interest of the junior members of the profession objected to the allowance of a solicitors' fee; the case having been conducted by Gannaway, a clerk in the employment of Messrs. Drake & Company. It was urged that barristers, and solicitors, appearing in court were alone entitled to the fees payable to them under the authorized scale of costs, and that it was unjust to place a solicitor's clerk on the same footing as a solicitor, who had been articled, examined, admitted, and who paid an annual certificate. Mr. R. E. Jackson opposed, and argued that his firm should not be compelled to conduct county court cases personally in place of attending to their other business.

The Chief Justice allowed the solicitor's fee claimed.

It is intimated that the question will probably be reconsidered upon appeal.

MARINE NOTES.

The Idaho, Capt. Carroll, sailed for Alaska at noon to-day, carrying a number of passengers and considerable freight.

Burrard Inlet shipped three lumber cargoes in the month ending August 20, destinations being Calcutta, Shanghai and Melbourne.

The ship James Drummond has finished discharging rails at Port Moody, and will go to Tacoma to load grain about the end of this week.

It will not be known for a few days where the Ancon will be repaired. The work may be done here or on the Sound, or she may be taken to San Francisco. Capt. Hall takes command.

The bark Robert Kerr, when being towed to the Inlet, struck on San Juan island, but did not ground. She is reported leaking a little, although it is believed no serious damage was sustained.

Eugene Mittelstadt, well and favorably known as first and second officer of the steamer Newbern, has been appointed to the command of that vessel, vice Huntington, transferred to the steamer Mexico, which takes the place of the George W. Elder on the Victoria route.

POLICE COURT.

(Before Edwin Johnson, Esq., S. M.)

Tom, a Cowichan Indian, drunk; $5 or a week.

Charles Raymond, drunk; recognizance ordered to be escheated.

John Welch, drunk; $5 or one week.

Susan, a Hydah, drunk; $5 or one week.

D. M. Steves, on remand, charged with being drunk and disorderly on the streets. Prisoner, who has an unfortunate weakness for liquor, was severely reprimanded by the court and advised to leave drink alone. He was then discharged.

For the New Church.

The ladies of the Methodist congregation are engaged in preparing a bazaar in aid of the new church and any assistance will be gratefully received by the following ladies: Mrs. D. Spencer, Mrs. Shakespeare, Mrs. Bertholder and Mrs. G. Grant.

THE ANTI-CHINESE AGITATION.

Large Meeting Last Night—Resolutions Adopted, &c.

The meeting at Harmony Hall last night was largely attended. Mr. Tuckfield, in the absence of the President, presided. A number of pointed speeches were made by working men in support of the resolutions submitted, all of which were unanimously adopted as follows:

Moved by Mr. McCrimmond, seconded by Mr. Kellar, and Resolved, That this meeting, considering the great mistake of the Dominion and Provincial Parliaments, in consenting and allowing contractors of the Canadian Pacific railway, and of other public works, to employ Chinese coolies on their various works, causing an influx of twenty thousand coolies into this province to the exclusion of a like number of our own race, have prostituted public works from their legitimate end and use; and further thereby setting a bad example, making it almost a matter of necessity on the part of citizens to employ Chinese, comparatively, the only labor now available. This meeting, therefore, expresses its unqualified disapprobation of such misappropriation of public funds, both in the past and for the future, and hereby demands legislation, making the employment of Chinese, on any and all public works, in any province of the Dominion, a direct infringment of the rights of the people, and treasonable.

Mr. Crean moved, and Mr. McCrimond seconded, the following resolution: Whereas, the Dominion parliament at its last session passed a franchise bill reducing the right to vote in this province from manhood suffrage to a money qualification, this anti-Chinese meeting, in open session assembled, hereby expresses its opinion that so far as this province is concerned, it is a limit now of their previous privileges, and is a step in the wrong direction wrong in theory and worse in practice.

THE GERMANIC-SPAIN TROUBLE.

The Matter Greatly Exaggerated—The King Censured—Confident of Peace.

Advices from Madrid of the 7th inst., intimates that Count von Halzfeldt, in his statement to Count Benomar regarding orders that had been given to the German gunboat, meant that the gunboat had been forbidden to hoist a German flag where a Spanish flag had already been hoisted. He said disobedience of the commander of the gunboat would not affect the situation.

Gen. Martinez Campo, formerly minister of war, in an interview to-day censured King Alfonso for delaying his return to Madrid. He thought the King should have returned at the beginning of the trouble with Germany, and that the time lost afforded the revolutionists an opportunity to incite the people to rebellion.

At a meeting of the council to-day King Alfonso declared that he had confidence in the present ministry. He said he was convinced that Emperor William would meet him half way in an honorable compromise. A small posse of police guards the German embassy.

Admiral Antequera has been sent to the Mediterranean to take command of the fleet, which has been increased. All vessels are ready for service.

BERLIN, Sept. 7—The feeling here over the Madrid incident is one of tranquility. No serious result is feared, although it is admitted that there is an element of gravity in Spain's insisting on prior sovereignty of the Caroline Islands, and the unstable position of King Alfonso.

LOUIS RIEL'S APPEAL.

Heard Before a Full Court in Winnipeg, who Decide that he Must be Produced in Court.

A full court of the Manitoba bench sat in Winnipeg on the 2nd inst., for hearing the appeal from the verdict of capital punishment in Riel's case. The same counsel as appeared in the case at first appeared to-day. The defense raised the objection that the court could not recognize anything but the original record, a certified copy only being produced. It also contended that the prisoner should be present. As his life was involved, he might desire to address the court. Counsel quoted English law reports, showing that prisoners were always produced. The court contended that it had no power to issue a writ of habeas corpus out of the province, and no ordinance of the lieutenant governor of the territories existed providing for such a case. The court could not compel the governor to make regulations. The crown complained of not being approached, in order that they might have got over the difficulty. The court adjourned to consider the points. Judgment subsequently delivered held that the original record and the prisoner should be produced. The court adjourned till Friday, by which time the crown agreed to produce the prisoner if practicable. Riel doubtless will be brought here by that time.

Empire Brewery.

HENNING PETERS, late of the Lion Brewery, is now prepared to supply the trade and families with all kinds of Beer, Ale and Porter.

The Brewery is situated on Spring Ridge, and is built over a well of pure, ever running spring water. This fact enables me to manufacture the very finest brands, equal to any imported Ale, Beer and Porter.

The machinery used is of latest pattern, the ingredients are pure when malt and hops, and a trial is only necessary to convince that the brands are the finest manufactured in the Province.

All orders for city supply, or for shipment to Island or Mainland points will receive prompt attention and a satisfactory article furnished.
